11-Year old Samuel Jacobs Releases First Children's book titled Samspiration

Inspiring kids through art

11-year old Samuel Jacobs, graduate from Lincoln Elementary School for the Arts, Anoka, MN spent the summer publishing his first children's book titled Samspiration. The book will be launched at the Coon Rapids Civic Center on September 8 from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. during the launch and Award of L Magazine, an inspirational magazine that features authors expertise and their inspiring stories.

Samuel's goal for writing his book is to inspire other kids to believe in themselves and learn that they can do whatever they put their mind to do.

The book comprised of some of his artwork from the classroom at Lincoln Elementary School for the Arts, in Anoka, home, and some of his personal experiences in Minnesota and his international travel to Nigeria, his parent's home country.

Readers of his books have expressed great enthusiasm for the Samspiration book and shared some reviews.

Samspiration is a book that shows artwork from the different culture, personality, and lifestyle. The book explained pictorially, the imaginative power of young mind and the creative thinking of a little fella.

It is simple to understand and the originality of the content is simply amazing, relaxing and interesting. The artwork is simply multicultural which is good because it shows the diversity in human nature.

I went through the book and I thought it will be an inspiration to kids and even adults. The artwork made me think, I can create anything I want as long as I can imagine it. The book will definitely help kids see what they are capable of doing and also make them contribute positively to their environment because they will want others to read and see their work and style.

In Samspiration, your child is set to be inspired by the creative mind of young Samuel who makes big-little things come alive through his paintings. Samspiration serves as a resource for parents as well in developing the gifts and talent of their young ones.

– Monica Habia, Program Director for the Office for Diversity and Inclusion, St. Thomas University, MN

I am very inspired by the creative expressions of the young artist, Samuel Jacobs. I have been a supporter of Sam's artwork for several years. He is very gifted with various art techniques. It's hard to believe that he is as young as he is because the art skills are that of an older child. While I admire all of Sam's artwork, one of my favorite pieces is the pop art hamburger. The beautiful collection contained within the pages of Samspiration is just a tidbit of what Sam is capable of doing. He will go far as an artist and a creative person who is truly inspired by God. I look forward to seeing more from this amazing artist.

THIS IS A MASTERPIECE

Samspiration is a coined word from the name of the author Samuel and the word inspiration. It captures the adventures, first international travel experience and the artistic talent innate in the young author. I call this a masterpiece from an eleven year old.

– Adegbiyi Victoria Kehinde, Teacher, Literature in English, Baptist High School, Makurdi, Nigeria

Samuel is an inspiring young kid who loves art and hopes to inspire other kids.
